

Case Study Guidelines

We will accept case studies in whichever format is most convenient to you. Please:

- Be guided by the questions and prompts in the template (or fill it in if you prefer)
- Include high resolution images
- Provide an inspirational quote

We are aiming to publish final copy of around 400 words, arranged under sub-headings or as questions and answers. Additional copy you provide may be included as a link.

Headline information
Organisation name
Brief description of what you do as an organisation
Contact details for follow up	This information will be held securely on a University of Leeds server. Access will be limited to members of the YHCC core team. To delete email info@yorksandhumberclimate.org.uk
Title or topic of case study
Link (or links) to further information online, if available
Tell us your story
Tell us about your initiative. Please make sure you include: The reason why you started, and the problem you are tackling The main steps you have taken Who you worked with (organisations, employees, communities etc) Any funding or support you accessed What you will do next

Summary of impacts

Tell us about the main impacts of your project. For example, this could be:

Reducing demand for resources. For example, fossil fuel for heat, transport, supply chain.

Reducing carbon emissions

Making a place more resilient to future climate impacts

Increasing biodiversity

Increasing knowledge, awareness and prompting action by others

Improving health and wellbeing

Saving money

An unexpected benefit to your organisation or people you work with

If you have measured these impacts in some way, please let us know

Encouraging change across the region

What advice would you give to others seeking to do similar work?

Please give us a short quote or two to explain what results from this work have had the most value for you or people you work with.

This could be a quote from you or someone who has benefited.

For example, "We love.... because it does A, B and C."

Many thanks for your support with our work to celebrate the good things which are already happening across the region.

www.yorksandhumberclimate.org.uk
info@yorksandhumberclimate.org.uk
@YHClimateCom